

THE GREAT MICHIGAN COMPOST TOUR

Come learn about Interlochen Center for the Art's composting systems! This iconic arts education center composts the food and yard waste their staff and students generate. Interlochen turns out over 170 tons of finished compost each year, using it on gardens and flowerbeds while donating excess to other local nonprofit garden projects. Learn about their vermicompost, bay system, Johnson Su bio-reactor style bins, and more during this tour.

Date:
Thursday,
September 19

Times:
12 PM – 2 PM

Address:
4000 J Maddy Parkway
Interlochen, MI
49643

Important notes:

- Turn onto Lyons Rd. next to Interlochen Public Radio. We will meet at the RB Annis Botanical Lab and Community Garden.
- Please wear closed-toe shoes and dress for the weather.
- You may want to bring a mask for the industrial compost-turning demonstration.

